

KEY BISCAIYNE COMMUNITY CENTER

Decameron Project Writing Class

WEDNESDAYS @ 9:30 AM via ZOOM

September 16 - November 18

Based on the New York Times Decameron Project, this 10-week course will cover a variety of short stories from noted authors around the world that in some form touch on the current pandemic. Each week participants will be asked to read one (or two) of the The Decameron Project stories and focus on some aspect of craft, such as voice, dialogue, or plot. By the end of the course every participant will be able to write their own short story.

Come, read, discuss, build community & have fun while writing.

Appropriate for all experience levels.

Course Fee: $100 for 10 weeks

Payment arrangements will be made directly with the instructor after registration.

REGISTER HERE

Kathie Klarreich is the author of Madame Dread: A Tale of Love, and contributor to two anthologies: So Spoke the Earth and Women, Writing, and Prison. In 2010 she received a Knight International Journalism Fellowship to train journalists in investigative reporting in Haiti, where she spent half of the last 24 years reporting for print, radio & television, including Time, The New York Times, ABC & NPR. Kathie started facilitating writing workshops in the Correctional system in 2009 and began the writing exchanges with academic institutions in 2013. She's a graduate of the University of Michigan and received her MFA from Leslie University.

For more information contact 305-365-8953 or rlohuis@keybiscayne.fl.gov

